How to?

To narrow results, use the search in the top right corner.

Search using multiple tags. Use quotes around each tag you'd like to search with a simple space in between. For example, a search query may be:

How are tags used?

Each category of software or service is listed in the given folder for the main function of the item. Every item has a specific tag for the given folder (ie, Password Management = #password). Subsequent tags are added to include other categories that may also fit the given item.

Bonus Tags

#freetier = the item offers a tier with possible limitations on features, but not time

#freetrial = the item offers a tier with possible unlimited features but for a given time period

#edudiscount = the item offers a discount for educational users

#nonprofit = the item offers a discount for non-profit users (typically requires confirmation)

FAQs

Why isn't [insert software] listed?

This list of links, while exhaustive, is far from complete. It will be updated on a random basis as we use and discover other softwares and services. Anything listed has been gathered over the years and generally includes either links to items that have been used and tested (for better or worse), or items that are some of the major players in the given space. This site is not meant to be a complete list of the given software or services for each individual tag, it is meant only to provide a good foundation for those researching a certain area.

How can I submit a software or service?

As mentioned, not every software or service will be listed. However, we may still choose to add links submitted by users. To submit a link for consideration, please fill out the form here: <https://forms.office.com/r/yBCaSFw24G>
